Regarding IWA: (San Simon Sub-basin irrigation non-expansion area)

This area of North Willcox would not be able to handle the pumping of water in large amounts. I am a retired farmer, rancher and Electrician. I have watched these once viable farming area go away because of high gas and Electric. Now larger companies and larger Sprinklers are sucking the water from neighboring farms forever. Land that has not been farmed for 50 years and has gone back to pasture is now being disked up for farm land. So the government programs will pay for it and a new Sprinkler system and the Tax payers pay for it.

Not everyone wants to live off the government.

It is hard to watch the same farmers prosper and get more land because of government programs. While the common tax payer pays for it.
