

Phoenix Area Office

Native Aquatic Species of the Gila River Basin
in Arizona and New Mexico

Aravaipa Fish Barriers

The Aravaipa Creek fish barrier is intended to prevent upstream movements of nonnative fishes from the San Pedro River to portions of Aravaipa Creek populated with threatened native fishes. Construction of the Aravaipa Creek fish barriers was completed in April of 2001.

Barrier Location
Design Considerations

Drawings

Reports:

Final Environmental Assessment, Construction of Fish Barriers on Aravaipa Creek dated November 1998.

[\[Drop Barriers\]](#) [\[Electrical Barriers\]](#) [\[Fish Barriers\]](#)

Last Reviewed:
June 25, 2009

Webmaster:
Joseph J. Billerbeck - jbillerbeck@usbr.gov